They Don't Want Public Interested in Mexican Muddle.

By WILLIS J. ABBOT.

Washington, March 31.—Colonel Roosevelt need not rear that his vigorous disquision of Mexican affairs has fallen on deaf ears in Washington, though its reception seems attended by fumb tongues. It has been read by federal officials of the highest tribute possible in such a controversy—they are affaid to discuss it.

The only official who will say a word on the subject for publication is Secretary of War Baker. He is new to the Wilson catinate, which explains his coverage. But all that even the audacious Baker would say was that it was remarkable that Colonel Roosevelt when the subject for publication is severally of the will see a furnace that his vigority of the word on the subject for publication is severally of the subject of the will say a word on the subject for publication is severally of the subject of the word on the subject for publication is severally of war and the possible in such a controversy—they are affaid to discuss it.

Have Proven Their Mettle Under Severe Conditions.

Columbus, N. M., March 31.—Two stories spread broadcast through Columbus has night caused the credulous to fear that Villa was about to make a second raid on the community. One story which grew as it passed from mouth to mouth was based on a suggestion made by Juan Fayela, a Mexican family living about two miles west of the town to be suspection. (Pelayed.)—The experience of American army filers in Mexico has made them the superior of any aerial force in the world of equal numbers. Captain E. B. Foulois, of the first aerial squadron, made this claim today in the face of criticism of his men.
